

SUGGESTED OWN CHOICE SONGS FROM MUSICAL COMEDY, OPERETTA AND MUSIC THEATRE

Prepared by Richard Morpew

First issued March 1995. Revised edition March 2004

PREFACE

This list is intended to assist teachers and candidates who are preparing for singing examinations for Grades 5, 6, 7 and 8 and who are using the current Singing Syllabus of the Australian Music Examinations Board.

Grades 5 – 8 require that candidates prepare either :

- one song from the Twentieth Century Repertoire Lists for the appropriate grade appearing in the Syllabus
- OR
- an Own Choice of an item from the twentieth century, which may include a song from the repertoire of musical comedy, operetta (including Gilbert and Sullivan) or music theatre.

When the new Singing Syllabus was introduced in 1993, a number of teachers suggested that a list of suitable songs from the repertoire of musical theatre be prepared by the AMEB to provide guidance for the selection of Own Choice items. In 1994 Warren Thomson OAM, the then Chair of the AMEB (NSW) Board, invited me to compile such a list.

Own Choice items are intended to give candidates and teachers the opportunity to broaden their knowledge of the repertoire and to develop an awareness of the different styles of songs, particularly in the different idioms of twentieth century composition. Although the lists contained here may provide some idea of the suitability of material, they should not be used exclusively. Hopefully they will provide teachers and candidates with the confidence to search for appropriate material themselves.

Three important features of songs from musical theatre to consider are :

1. Vocal Range

Many songs have a range covering over two octaves making it difficult to include such songs in a program for examination, especially in Grades 5 and 6. Teachers and candidates should be careful when selecting songs to ensure that the technique is sufficiently developed to meet the demands of effective blending of the vocal registers. In cases where the tessitura of a song is reasonably safe but where the pitch of a particular note is higher than the normal range (e.g. at a final climax) it would be advisable to sing an alternative pitch rather than force the voice beyond its capabilities. Many of the songs listed here appear in several different volumes in various different keys. For examination purposes, any published key is acceptable.

2. The emotional and dramatic element

Many of the songs have strong dramatic intensity as well as emotional depth that is not always easy for the singer who is still developing a secure vocal technique to express with full conviction. The singer who has a flair for the theatre should have no difficulty in projecting the meaning and character of a song. However, not every singer has such a flair, and it may be wiser for that singer to concentrate on developing characterization in other song forms such as the twentieth century art song.

3. Voice production

It must be understood that amplification is used in theatres and recording studios to realize the contemporary idiom and style of musicals, particularly those which have been composed in the last twenty-five years. This has meant that the lower range of the female voice could be produced without force and without causing vocal damage. However for acoustic performance, i.e. without the benefit of amplification, it would be advisable to treat any song in which the vocal line lies in this range with utmost care. The examiner would not expect the performance to have the vocal qualities as an amplified one.

Selection of songs in this List

The selection of songs included here was made on the technical suitability of the song for the developing voice at the various levels of examination. The musical quality of the song was also taken into account, and the dramatic and emotional character of the song was carefully considered.

These criteria were also used to arrive at a possible Grade for each song listed. However, it should be stressed that the gradings are suggestions only and have been based on the assumption that the candidate would be at least at a Credit level for the nominated grade.

In the time taken to research the repertoire, I have only really begun to scratch the surface of the vast amount of material available. These lists provide suggestions only. They are not prescriptive and should not be considered as supplementary lists to the current Singing Syllabus.

A list of books has been included which teachers and candidates may find useful as references for information about the general background of musical theatre and for some ideas about the theatrical presentation of songs. This information will also assist candidates preparing for the General Knowledge section of the examination.

I am indebted to the staff of Willoughby Municipal Library and The Australian Music Centre in Sydney for their assistance in facilitating the research of the material. And a special thanks to Patricia Oertel for her help in grading the songs and for her suggestions for additional song repertoire and advice for singers.
